these troops were also subject to the horrible conditions of war during which foreskin infections were also more common due to the simple fact that they couldn't clean themselves regularly.

Zivkovic and Hadziselimovic (2009) suggest that UDTS do not undergo the usual mini-pubertal increase of Sertoli cells either, leading to diminished numbers overall.